THE Chicago wholesale dealers all report greatly increased sales in nearly every department.

AMONG Republicans there has been Hunterites and Bradleyites. There should now be nothing but Baileyites.

If ice will save the Glondyke boom there is no danger of its spoiling before spring. Try to enjoy life a few months longer.

THE continued rise in all kinds of farm products is bothering the free silver orators. Their argument is all knocked in the head.

COLONEL Dan Lamont is not figuring for the Democratic-Populist nomination for President. He had as soon be vice president of "a great monopoly."

If the Paris exposition allows the United States only 500,000 square feet Chicago will need the bulk of it. Brer Handy would do well to strike for more.

JERRY SIMPSON is worried with the issue "16 to 1," and wants to make the fight on the suppression of Speaker Reed and the abolition of the Federal courts.

THE Ohio and Iowa campaigns this year will attract national attention. People will be curious to know whether Hawkeyes and Buckeyes really want prosperity, or more lunatic asylums.

SAY "prosperity" to a genuine died-in-the-wool 16-to-1-er, and he will stand on his head and kick his heels in the air, and declare that "there can be no such thing without us"—for Bryan says so.

A bicycle is a much easier thing to steal than a horse, and more valuable these days. In the hands of an ingenious thief the bicycle can be changed in appearance in twenty-four hours that its owner would not know it.

THE Governor of Georgia announced that he would stop lynching. The best citizens at once rallied and hanged two negroes in one night, and we are informed it was done in "a most orderly way" with "no undue excitement."

LORS of 16 to 1 Bryanites will listen to Bryan telling about "impossible prosperity" under the rule of the robber tariff, and yet go on holding their wheat for a dollar per bushel in gold. They may not get it, and they may. If enough people believe in Bryan's rant they won't.

THERE are several hundred men in Ohio county who voted for Bryan last fall that will not support the fusion county ticket, so the Republicans may feel highly encouraged, and by good work we will carry the county for our ticket at least five hundred. Let every Republican be on the lookout.

It appears that the National Democrats are preparing to have the state stumped by the very best political talent. What these gold Democrats will do for free silver fellows will be an ample sufficiency. We might also remark incidentally that our Republican spell-binders will have their hands full.

THE Populists of the Bedford Magisterial District met last Saturday to see something about nominating a candidate for Magistrate in that District. The meeting adjourned to meet to-morrow to complete its work. The Populists have been denied the right by their Democratic brethren to place a candidate in the field, but the patriotic members are determined to save their party. Why don't they put a fusion device so the Populists will not have to sacrifice their principles?

PROSPECTS are very flattering for a good corn crop in Ohio county this year.

SAM J. SHACKLEFORD will not meet Jo A. Parker in debate. The Democrats ignore the Populists on every occasion.

HON. C. M. BARNETT made a happy hit in his address before the Republican Convention when he said that there was a warm place in the hearts of Kentucky Republicans for the Hon. W. G. Hunter. The tremendous and long continued cheering which greeted this remark showed that the convention approved and endorsed the sentiment of the speaker.

JOE PARKER has begun an active canvass of the State, in the interest of his candidacy for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. An interesting feature of his campaign is the fact that he continually fire bomb shells into the camp of free silver Democrats. These shells explode and create consternation and dismay among the Bryanites. When Mr. Parker gets into Ohio county he is going to cause a rattling of dry bones in the camp of the local Democracy. He is an eloquent and forcible speaker and he will say a few things about fusion in this county that the Democratic bosses will not want to hear.

A highly successful revival of religion has been in progress at the Methodist Church in Fordsville, this county. The meeting has been conducted by Rev. J. R. Little, of Louisville, assisted by Rev. Bogard, the local pastor. Up to last Saturday there had been over seventy conversions and the meeting was at a fever heat. One night the services closed at half past eleven, and after that the most earnest portion of the congregation divided themselves into two bodies and went from house to house, singing, shouting and praying. Thus they continued until the cock crew for day. An effort is being made to convert the whole town and it seems it will be successful. The services at the church are intensely spiritual and the shouts of new born souls can be heard for miles around. A more successful revival was never known in this portion of the state.

OUR esteemed contemporary fills a portion of its valuable space by stating that Americans who purchase clothing abroad are compelled to pay a tariff duty on all such clothing exceeding in value the sum of $100.00. It gives this to prove that foreigners do not pay the tax. In two instances you are correct brother. But what class of our people is it who go abroad to purchase clothing? Only the wealthy; those who are able to pay and not miss it. It is a boasted argument of yours, brother, that the tariff robs the masses for the benefit of our rich manufacturers and corporations. By publishing such facts as this you contradict yourself and appear in a very bad light before the public. The fact of the matter is that the Americans who go abroad and patronize foreign establishments in preference to their own, thereby circulating their money with foreigners instead of spending it with our people, ought to pay a tax and a heavy tax at that. There is not a better nor a juster feature of our present tariff laws than the one mentioned by that paper.

OUR Republican delegates to the Judicial District Convention held at Owensboro last Tuesday, proceedings of which can be found elsewhere in this issue, respectfully report to the Republicans of Ohio county, whom they represented, that they "have done a good work," "have kept the faith," and returned home with clean hands and a clean conscience and that too without any blot, blot or stain, which will cause any person to doubt their Republicanism. To the intelligent National Democrats of Ohio county, they would say they believe that to name any man of their party as our nominee, and that too without any request from them would be received by them as nothing more nor less than "an attempt to bribe," and they therefore refused to take part in offering to them such an insult. To other intelligent voters of Ohio county they would report and repeat again and again that they are Republicans from principle and by that principle they propose to stand.

Retaliation and Discrimination.
When any one suggests "retaliation" as an offset to discriminating duties for the Protection of our shipping, he ought to remember that he then inferentially assents to the efficacy of discriminating duties. If discriminating duties would not succeed, retaliation would be unnecessary. It is the appreciation of the advantage that discriminating duties would give to our ships, that causes the mind to think of "what the other fellow would do." But retaliation cannot effectively offset discrimination. It might do as much for exports in foreign vessels from the United States as discrimination would do for imports to the United States in American vessels—but more than half of our imports come from nations having no shipping, and which would have no reason for retaliating against American discrimination in favor of American ships. And there are very many good reasons why retaliation would not be adopted by the nations that have a shipping of their own. It would not only increase the cost of sending their goods to us, but it would enable us to enter into more effective competition with them for the supply of "the markets of the world." That's worth thinking about.—[Economist.]

Reforms by Gage.
The other day a $3,000 Federal position in Baltimore was vacated. One of the assistant appraisers resigned. Very promptly Senator Wellington, the head of the organization in Maryland, came to Washington to present the resignation and have the place filled by a good Republican. He called at the Treasury Department and saw the Secretary.
"Yes," said Mr. Gage, "the place is vacant, but we are not going to fill it. We will let it remain vacant."
"Why?" asked the Senator.
"Because," replied the Secretary in a firm civil service tone, "there is no need of it. The remaining assistant appraiser can very well attend to all of the work, and he must do it. The Government might as well save that $3,000 a year."

There was no appeal. The Senator went away empty handed.
Before Mr. Gage gets through his application of business ideas to the affairs of Uncle Sam it will begin to tell on the pay-roll. The action or rather the non-action, on the Baltimore vacancy, was not the beginning. Ever since Congress got away, the Secretary aided and abetted by Assistant Secretary Vanderlip, who has a keen scent for sinecures, has been vacating unnecessary offices. He has pursued his investigation, and has chopped off useless heads without any noise. The salaries which suddenly dropped thus far amount to $50,000 a year.

The Secretary as yet has hardly gone outside of the custom offices and immigration service. In those two branches his looting-off has been limited to offices in the vicinity of Washington. At Baltimore he found ten men employed to do what he thought five could do as well. He stopped five salaries there. A cumbersome immigration service has grown up until nearly every little port of entry has its Government immigration agent. The salaries are not large, but the labor entailed is about as near nothing as possible. The Secretary has made a specialty of reform in the immigration service, and has cut out dozens of the superfluous agents.—[Washington Dispatch to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

Abraham Lincoln once told of a steamboat on the Sangamon river which had a four-foot boiler, and a seven-foot whistle. Every time the whistle tooted the boat had to stop. The same trouble begins to appear in the Bryan campaign for the Democratic nomination in 1900, for whenever the Boy Orator makes a speech the campaign slows down. It is said that the party managers are seriously planning to tie up the entire outfit long enough to adjust the craft to its fog horn.

Tilden for Protection.
In his speech at the meeting held in New Orleans to welcome him home and endorse his vote for the Dingley bill, Senator McEnery made the following statement:
Samuel J. Tilden was a protection Democrat in the same sense that Jefferson and Jackson and Monroe and Madison were favorable to the encouragement of home industries by tariff legislation. I make this statement on the authority of Bigelow's "Life of Tilden," which contains, under Tilden's own signature, a declaration of his protective ideas. It is true that his biographer says that there were reasons to believe he had modified his views, but he qualified his statement by saying that in the discussions of the tariff during his active and eventful life there is no statement from him to that effect.

The free trader or tariff-for-revenue only doctrine of the Democratic party is a combination of the old slavery idea. It was forced on the Democratic party by Mr. Watterson when he saw that it was necessary for the Democratic party to be committed to some positive doctrine, and he hit upon that as the one on which it was easiest for Democrats to win. It is not historical doctrine of the Democratic party, nor of any American party.

It was on the sixth day of August, 1896, that the bottom was reached in the way of low prices on farm products in the United States. For years values had continued to shrink and it did seem as if the bottom would never be reached. For a long time things stood at the same notch, but we are glad to say that we have commenced the up grade. It has been a slow business, but we are all able to see that we are advancing up the hill that we hope shall lead to ultimate prosperity. The decent was a gradual one, while ascent must be by the same process. The idea is to keep pulling, and not let a cog slip. We welcome anything and everything that will add to the wealth or comfort of the American people. We look to the future with great hopes and confidently believe that it will be but a short time until the sun of prosperity shall shed his beneficent rays upon the people who have so long watched and waited for its coming.—[Hustler.]

FUSION DEVICE

In Other Counties, but the Ohio County Populists Have to Vote Under the Rooster.

WILL KILL THE POPULIST PARTY.

Hidinsburg, Aug. 16.—On Thursday of last week the Populist and silver Democratic committees met here to select a campaign committee for this county, and to settle upon a device under which to place the fusion ticket. The Democratic committee met in the Court House and the Populist committee in the Hambleton House just across the square. There was much trotting backward and forward between the two places. Deputations from the Populists would go over to confer with the Democrats and vice versa. A joint meeting of the two committees was held in the auditorium of the Court House.

After lengthy and lengthy discussion it was decided that two hands clasped should be the device for the fusion ticket. The fusionists therefore will be known as the clasped hands party.

Another matter of trifling importance was also before the committee. Notwithstanding its non-importance, it was the cause of some warm feeling. The brethren did not dwell together in unity upon the subject. The question was this: The Populists had nominated Hon. H. C. Smith, of Hancock county, for State Senator and the Democrats the Hon. Elisha Ashcraft, of Meade county.

Mr. Ashcraft first sought the nomination as a Populist, but suddenly shifted his course and became a candidate for the Democratic nomination. By this remarkable action Mr. Ashcraft made himself decidedly non-persona gratias to the Populists.

The Populist therefore demanded that the Democrats withdraw Mr. Ashcraft and endorse Mr. Smith. Strange to say the Democrats failed to do this. There is not therefore altogether a spark of brotherly love between the brethren.

Speaking of fusion however reminds us that the Populists have got about all they want in all our neighboring counties except Ohio.

In Ohio county by some means they have had the wool pulled over their eyes and will be forced to vote under the rooster.

In Breckinridge county two clasped hands is the fusion device. In Grayson it is the rooster and plow and hammer combined. In Hancock it is the face of a clock the hands of which point to 16 and to 1. In other counties the silver dollar is the emblem.

In all these counties the Populist and Democratic Parties meet on an equal footing. In Ohio county however the Populists lose their identity and also their organization by suffering a few bosses to put all the candidates under the rooster, thereby making it a Democratic ticket instead of a fusion ticket.

A self-respecting Populist therefore will not consider himself in any way obligated to walk up and vote under the rooster. Will not Shackleford be under the rooster also? If a Populist therefore votes under the Rooster he will vote for the Democratic nominee for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Then where will Jo A. Parker be? Not only will Shackleford be under the Rooster, but so also will be the Democratic nominees for State Senator, for Circuit Judge and for Commonwealth's Attorney.

Will good Populists permit such a dose of Democracy as that to be cramed down their throats. Is the Populist party of Ohio county to be bucked and gagged by the Democrats and choked to death. This is what the Democrats are trying to do, and it remains with the Populists as to whether it shall be done.

ROBIN HOOD.
Republican State Candidate.
The Republican party of Kentucky met in convention in Louisville last week and nominated Mr. Bailey, of Magoffin county, as their candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. He was nominated as the candidate of the Republican party, and is entitled to the united support of all Republicans. He is an intelligent, attractive, eloquent young man, fit and deserving in every way. He was not put forward to represent any faction, and no faction can claim that he represents it.

He is simply and solely the Republican candidate, and he will have the support of all Republicans who intend to align themselves with the Republican party in the future. There is always some dissatisfaction with the result of every convention, as we have remarked before, but where it is a mere personal dissatisfaction it will soon be allayed. All the controversies in the Republican party are merely personal, and they can not survive intelligent explanation and discussion. The controversies in the Democratic party are fundamental, and relate to essential principles, and are impossible of reconciliation.

If the Republican party does not win in this state and this city in November, it will be due Republican folly and measures and not to the Democratic strength.—[Commercial.]
Women are said to be an exceedingly scarce commodity in the gold mines of Alaska. One of the most ordinary common Kentucky girls, if she should drop in among the miners up there, would attract more attention than the whole of Barnum's circus would in a backwoods town. Here is a most excellent opportunity for back number women to get an up-to-date-gold-bug husband.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver troubles, catarrh—cures which prove

There is at least one very potent argument against lynching. So far as we have been able to learn no man who was lynched, claimed just before being swung off, that he was going straight to heaven. As a general thing he gets jerked off before he has time to get his mind on heaven and heavenly things. It is not so with the fellow who has committed some heinous crime, and who has spent a year or two in jail before he gets his neck broken by the hangman. It generally takes these rascals about a year to prepare for their doom. We however have mighty little faith in the Christianity of those bloodthirsty rascals who never prepare for death until they are brought under the shadow of the gallows.—[Ex.]

Resolutions of Respect.
Whereas, on the morning of August 11th, 1897, death called from his home and from our Sunday School ranks, Horace I. Hocker, who had long been a true and tried member, one whose devotion to the Sunday School work had never faltered, and whose devotion to Sunday school children was beautifully tender and earnest.

Therefore, be it resolved by the Liberty Sunday School that in the death of our friend and brother, our school has sustained an irreparable loss; and while we deeply mourn his departure and weep with his friends tears of deepest sorrow, we bow with humble submission to Him "who doeth all things right," and "sorrow not as those who have no hope." But we look joyfully forward to a reunion above.

Resolved, second, that the family, neighborhood and church have lost a true friend, neighbor and member, and we hereby extend to them our heartfelt sympathy.

Resolved, third, that a copy of the resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Liberty Sunday School, a copy sent to his bereaved and sorrowing companion, and a copy furnished for publication in the county papers.

After funeral services at the house the remains were laid to rest in Oakwood Cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire town.

JUDICIAL CONVENTION. A Large and Enthusiastic Convention.

The delegates to the 6th Judicial District Convention met at Owensboro Tuesday to nominate candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney. All four of the counties were represented by Delegates on the floor of the convention. In Daviess county the Republicans had conceived the idea of nominating two National Democrats for the two offices. The delegation was headed by E. T. Franks. He had control of his delegation and was the Sir Oracle of his crowd.

Hancock and Ohio county Republicans are Republicans from principle and would not stand any run-over by Frank's crowd, hence the convention was lively from start to finish.

Judge W. G. Newton, of Livermore, was selected as Chairman, and Sam A. Anderson as Secretary and the convention proceeded to business.

Committees on Rules, Organization, Credentials and Resolutions were appointed and made their report after which a resolution was introduced by the Ohio county delegation that none but known Republicans should be placed in nomination, which was tabled upon motion of Franks.

Davies and McLean counties voting for the motion and Hancock and Ohio counties against the motion. Here the Ohio county delegation refused to participate in the convention as they would not be a party to a trade to barter men's principles away, and as the convention was no longer a Republican convention.

Franks, with his usual harangue, was on the floor in an instant with a speech, whereupon Hons. E. D. Guffy and C. M. Barnett answered him to the satisfaction of everybody.

Ohio county voted against fusion on every occasion, but McLean and Daviess counties succeeded in nominating Jo Noe for Commonwealth's Attorney and when the nomination for Circuit Judge was reached Franks nominated Mr. Guffy for Circuit Judge and he refused it in a neat little speech and then the Hon. D. A. Powers was placed in nomination and he declined and then Franks nominated Judge L. P. Little. The vote was taken as follows:

Daviess county 16 for Little, McLean and Hancock 5 each against Little. The chair ruled Ohio county out after she had voted against Little.

The Republicans of Ohio county may well feel proud of her delegates as they went to the convention as Republicans and came back home as Republicans.

One Boat Trade.
Mr. A. D. White has received a letter from Capt. Mitchell in regard to the boat trade on our river. The River needs cleaning out very badly and the Government has already spent too much money to drop the matter and the work should be done at once. We publish the letter below:

Evansville, Aug. 16.—Dear Sir:—I saw Capt. Hornbrook this morning and he says he will put Steamer Janie Rae back in the trade between here and Hartford as soon as the river is cleared out. Have they commenced to remove snags and leaning timbers yet? I will be very much pleased to get back in the trade again as I like to run there better than any trade I have been in lately. Please write me if they are at work yet in the river.

Yours Truly,
H. S. MITCHELL.

Jr., made a few brief remarks and the Institute adjourned until 1:30. In the afternoon the subjects which had been assigned the various teachers were taken up, and discussed by the Institute, which was very instructive as well as interesting.

Invades Central City.
Central City, Ky., Aug. 18.—Knight, the Evansville miner's agitator, come in here yesterday from Dawson and left today for Cincinnati. He accomplished nothing here, as the miners here will not go out, having been granted all demands. Joe Klein, a local agitator, has been here today with Knight, but is going to McHenry. The situation here is quite, the best of feeling existing between the Central Coal and Iron company and their men.

Wise Men Know
It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Commits Suicide.
A dispatch from Spottsville to the Owensboro Messenger says:

"A suicide is reported here from up the river about Rochester that was for a queer reason. A little child of six years, named Birdstone, was told by his aunt or relative that he could not attend school until later in the year. He became enraged over this refusal to accede to his wishes, and went off to the barn. A box of Rough on Rats had been used at the stable to rid the crib of rodents. The tot took a big dose of the poison and was found a few hours afterwards stiff in death."

The New York Journal, the most violent free silver paper in America last year, says: "That prosperity is at hand is conceded by representative men in every branch of trade. If the judgment of the most conservative bank president of the metropolis is to be accepted, this country has suddenly entered upon an area of advancement that is likely to last at least for three or four years. In that time every man who cares for work may find employment, every man who has saved money may double it."

FOREMAN-CATE CASE
Came up for Trial Monday and a Verdict Reached.

The celebrated Cate-Foreman case was called in the Ohio Circuit Court Monday and was submitted to the jury in the afternoon. This has been one of the most hotly contested cases that has been tried in the Ohio Circuit Court for several years. Our readers are all familiar with the circumstances which led up to the case and we will not repeat them.

Foreman had sued Mrs. Cate for $10,000 damage for scalding him one night last winter as he was coming out the church door at Sulphur Springs. The jury after hearing the evidence and argument of the counsel brought in a verdict giving Foreman a judgment of $250.00, which together with the cost in the case will amount to about $600.00.

Morn after morn the anti-an Has watched with longing eye To see the grimy smoke in wreaths Swirl up into the sky.

He listened for the whistle shrill— Its echoes came not back— And cold and black and desolate Still stood the chimney stack

He heaved a sigh for day gone by When early rising day Found him with face to fact'ry turned, Light hearted on his way.

And now straight on before his eyes, While on his journey bent, Behold the smoke-crowned chimney stack Industry's monument.

The shouts of men give him good cheer When he had reached his goal: The hissing steam, the fact'ry roar Are music to his soul.

The grimy Titans of the shop— Waits of the wizard's brain— With deft and skilful hand he leads Submissive in his train;

Or with uplifted arm he rains Such sturdy, ringing blows As fashion forms of usefulness; And thrills and wealth bestows;

He laughs and sings from morn till night Like the miller of the Dee; His fireside is his sweet delight; Rich in content is he.

He hears again the tuneful ring That molds the hammered steel, He hears again the whirling din Of swiftly turning wheel;

There are the bustling ranks of men— Our nation's stalwart prop; The fires are lit and there, above, Is the smoking chimney top.

PATENTS

On Devices for Preventing Hens From Setting.

One of the unsolved problems of the ages has been to discover an argument for dissuading the "setting" hen from following the natural bent of her material instincts, and inducing her to resume her egg laying routine.

The average poultry raiser thinks he is defrauded unless he can secure one egg per diem for seven or eight months from each hen. When, therefore, a hen stops laying in the early summer, and vehemently asserts her intention to remain in the nest all day without adequate rental to the owner, the trouble begins.

It is a battle royal between human intellect and ingenuity and animal instinct, the hen usually coming off with the honors, unless she sacrifices her life to the often too drastic measures adopted by the owner.

Of the many expedients employed by the human being in this contest, two have been patented to their inventors by the United States Government, and may not be used by the enterprising public without proper license from the patentees.

The first patent was granted to a citizen of La Crosse, Wis., in 1887, and so has seven years yet to run. The inventor proposes to place in the nest a flat coil of stout wire, having at intervals sharp points. He states under oath that besides driving the hen off the nest, it will, operating in the manner described in the patent, "instantly divert the hen from any desire or disposition to set." Not only will it do this, but, theoretically, it will so effectually banish all recollection of previous intent upon the part of the party of the second part that she will forthwith resume her ordinary demeanor and begin laying eggs again. It reads like a fairy tale, but the originator of the idea doubtless never had experience with hens so fertile in resource and indomitable in will power as those with which the writer had personal acquaintance in his youth.

The second patent has just been granted to a man residing in Roxton, Tex., and has given rise to a great deal of amusement upon the part of the Patent Office officials. The man who made the drawing, in order to play a joke upon the office, showed the device—a pair of blinders—fastened to the head of a lordly chancier, and in its form it was published. The examiner who had charge of the case has been bantered so much that he now asserts that the fowl is really a hen, but of a French breed having no distinction between the sexes.

The patent says: "When a hen is provided with one of these improved hoods she can neither see to the right nor left, nor upwardly, and thus is prevented from flying to any elevated position. All nests in the modern construction of henneries are constructed at an elevation from the ground, and as a fowl will never fly in a direction in which she cannot first look, the hen will thus be prevented from flying up to her nest."

As the hen can see directly before her, however, it does not appear how she is to be prevented from focalizing her efforts to hatching a brood of chickens from such bits of broken crockery as she can scratch into a corner of the aforesaid "henneries."

The very appearance of Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve signifies that this remedy is new and original in itself. It is manufactured on an improved method. The many miraculous cures of long standing that are being accomplished by its use emphasize its importance as the greatest cure known for any and all kinds of sore eyes. For sale by Z. ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE. Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the "womb" like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, the force of any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness of womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty-four hours, a reclining or setting indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the great kidney, and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the HARTFORD REPUBLICAN and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Return of Prosperity. The Chicago Time-Herald has been interviewing the wholesale houses and all the drummers out of Chicago and condenses a page of interviews into these few striking paragraphs: Country merchants are buying freely and paying promptly.

Orders are better in quantity and quality than they have been for years. A period of falling prices has given way to a period of firm and rising prices.

The farmer is raising good crops, is selling them at good prices, and is paying off old debts.

Settled business conditions and confidence have returned to the people as a consequence of the National Administration's redemption of the campaign pledges on the tariff question.

Byers who have been keeping their stocks at the lowest possible point since 1893 and have bought only from hand to mouth, as it were, now do not hesitate to purchase freely so as to discount the future.

The tide of trade, has turned and is running at the flood. The improvement is general and marked. Every business man in every line whatsoever sees in each single detail of his trade a sign of better times than he has known for at least four years.

Every traveling salesman who has returned to Chicago within a week—and they have been pouring into every house, for the trips in quest of fall trade end July 31—has told the same story and proved it by list of orders.

The croakers must desprive these conclusions or hereafter hold their peace.

Do not make your children to become decrepid after years by giving them chill tonics containing arsenic. Arsenic ruins their bones and puffs them up. They look better—for a while. The arsenic finally shows its ghastly results. Dr. Bell's Peppermint Chill Tonic contains no arsenic. It makes stout, sound bone. It cures real flesh—health itself. It cures chills permanently. The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Callonettes, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tries all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at J. H. Williams Drug Store.

The editors and street corner orators who are still re-echoing the threadbare assertion that a protective tariff breeds trusts seem to have forgotten that trusts never flourished in this country as they did under the Wilson law, which is now happily laid away.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities to the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it, Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at J. H. Williams Drug Store.

Mr. Bryan, having been ordered off the lecture and oratorical contest by the leaders of the silver party, will now find time to go to Mexico and make a real study of the silver question, something that he has not thought of doing so long as he could be permitted to talk. Those who had hoped to be able to assert that the effect of the completion of the Dingley law was not apparent in business circles find their only method of making this assertion is to falsify the record which the country and the factories and the employees of all sections are making.

A CONFESSION

Wolf County Attorney Renounces Bryanism.

Campton, Ky., Aug. 14.—The rapid improvement of all business here is having a tendency to show the silverites where they have been misled. County Attorney Stamper, of this place, one of the most unsparing and uncompromising followers of Bryan and the free silver heresy in the late campaign, and a leading Democrat in this county, had the courage to day to come out and admit that the free silver cause is dying and will not be sprung as an in the campaign of 1900. This confession created considerable surprise in the free silver ranks, as Mr. Stamper is the Democratic nominee for County Attorney in this county.

To a Commercial representative he said:

"I am a Democrat; I have closely studied every phrase of the money question. Everybody should be honest and speak the truth at all times. I have tried as hard as anybody to uphold the free silver doctrine, but as sure as there is a God the tide is turning against us."

"The idea that the price regulates the price of wheat and other commodities; why, it is really absurd and ridiculous. The law of supply and demand is the greatest factor in controlling the price of wheat, or anything else."

"That won't bear the test. Look at wheat, for instance. It is higher now than it has been for years, and the beauty of this is, it is in the hands of the producers, and they will derive the benefit of these high prices. Railroad stock, cattle, sheep, hogs, etc., have advanced proportionately. Cattle are selling higher than they have been for years. Signs of returning prosperity are on every hand, and the people, although they may be silverites, are bound to acknowledge it, and the sooner the better. We Democrats will have to spring a new issue or we are gone, certain."

"The discovery of a most inexhaustible gold beyond measure, and we will not have the face to throw up to the goldite that the stock of gold is insufficient to make gold the standard of value. The whole tide, I repeat, is turning against us."

Mr. Stamper is not in sympathy with the Democratic nominees of this county, and is going to exert his influence for the candidates under the "Log Cabin" in the county race.
